

Danny Auger

Principal Trader, Financial Markets Department
Bank of Canada

Danny has been a Principal Trader on the money market and repo desk at the Bank of Canada for eight years. Prior to joining the Canadian central bank, he spent 12 years in the private sector in various trading roles. He first worked in Chicago on the floor of the CBOE before moving to London, UK to trade FX, interest rates and derivatives. He began as an equity derivatives market maker, then traded FX and rates at TD Securities and later ran a Delta One desk at a US broker dealer. Danny graduated with a commerce degree in Finance from DePaul University in Chicago.